

Biological context of atropine-motivated myopia genetic anchors

Interpretive schematic translating the genetic evidence (Figures 2–3) into three biological axes.

Tier classification from colocalization analysis (Figure 3). Biological axes reflect established gene molecular function. The exploratory receptor/Hippo network and docking analyses (Supplementary Figure S1) were hypothesis-generating and did not resolve atropine’s direct molecular target.